

Dr. Donna D'Alessio is a board-certified radiologist specializing in breast and oncologic imaging. Dr. D'Alessio received her medical degree Cum Laude from SUNY Downstate College of Medicine. After an internship in Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Montefiore Medical Center in New York, she completed her residency in diagnostic radiology at Weill Cornell Medical Center, New York Presbyterian Hospital. She completed a fellowship in breast and body imaging at the Stanford University Medical Center in Palo Alto, California. Dr. D'Alessio is currently an Attending Radiologist and faculty member of the Department of Radiology at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center and Assistant Clinical Professor at Weill Cornell Medical College, New York Presbyterian Hospital. At MSK, she serves as the Chair for the radiology department's Quality Assurance Committee and is Head of the Breast Imaging Interventional program. Dr. D'Alessio is also responsible for the clinical training of residents and fellows and is a facilitator for the MSK Communication Skills training program (COMSKIL).

Dr. D'Alessio is active in organized medicine. She is past president of the New York Breast Imaging Society. Currently, she serves as Secretary/Treasurer of the New York State Radiological Society (NYSRS), a chapter of the American College of Radiology. She also serves as Chair of the NYSRS Breast Imaging Committee. In the Medical Society of the State of New York (MSSNY), Dr. D'Alessio is Vice Chair of the Heart, Lung, and Cancer Committee. She is an assistant editor for the American Journal of Roentgenology, the official journal of the American Roentgen Ray Society. Her participation in organized medicine and commitment to advocacy for patients and physicians has earned her the honor of fellowship in the American College of Radiology.