

Dr. Jocelyn Young, DO, MSc, MSc, FAAFP serves as core faculty and assistant Designated Institutional Official at the United Health Services Family Medicine Residency Program in Johnson City, NY. She completed residency and an additional chief resident year at the University of Rochester Family Medicine Residency Program and a Masters in Health Professions Education at the Warner School of Education at the University of Rochester. Dr. Young is a clinical assistant professor with Upstate Medical University in Syracuse, NY.