

I'm Dr. Carolynn Francavilla Brown, a Board-Certified Family Medicine physician and a Diplomate of the American Board of Obesity Medicine. I'm the owner and founder of Green Mountain Partners for Health in Lakewood, Colorado, where I practice both family and obesity medicine. I also run the Colorado Weight Care program, focusing on treating weight to improve and prevent medical problems.

Additionally, I host The Dr. Francavilla Show: A Podcast on Weight and Health. I speak nationally on various obesity topics, including the treatment of PCOS and obesity, obesity and breastfeeding, obesity during pregnancy and postpartum, exercise, nutrition, obesity advocacy issues, and running practices.

I've had the honor of speaking at OMA, TOS, Harvard Blackburn, and AAFP events.

Currently, I serve on the Obesity Medicine Association Board of Trustees and was Chair of the OMA Advocacy Committee from 2014 to 2021. I'm passionate about helping clinicians treat obesity and improve care for their patients.
