

Taren Greenidge, Esq.

Taren Greenidge is a Partner at Constangy, Brooks, Smith & Prophete LLP, a national law firm exclusively devoted to representing management in every aspect of labor and employment law. Taren has extensive knowledge in labor and employment laws that she has developed while representing a wide range of clients from locally-owned small businesses to Fortune 100 companies. As a lawyer, Taren defends employers in a broad facet of employment matters including harassment, discrimination, wage and hour claims, workers' compensation, handbook policy creation, executive compensation and client counseling for compliance with federal, state, and local laws. Taren also handles a substantial amount of workplace investigations and is the Co-Chair of her firm's Workplace Investigations Practice Group.

Taren's hard work and leadership has been noted in several feature articles and she has also been the recipient of numerous prestigious awards including The Daily Record's Up & Coming Attorney Award, the Rochester Black Bar Association's Excellence in Leadership Award, the Rochester Business Journal's Forty Under 40 Award, the Daily Record's Top Women in Law Award, the Future Leader's Award, Women of Excellence by the Rochester Business Journal and Top 40 under Forty by the National Black Lawyers.

Taren is a Rochester native and graduated cum laude from Spelman College with a B.A. in Economics and Political Science in 2007 and obtained her J.D. from Duke University School of Law in 2010.